Oops, and the marsh reanalysis too, I suppose.

Hey Tom,

I know you are busy making revisions, and we won't need your help with the briefing, [REDACTED]

Maybe we could have a 5 minute chat sometime before the briefing (which hopefully will not happen until next week)?

Do you need some lead time to brief Mike? My guess is he would like a briefing sooner (as in within a few days), even if some questions are open.

Can you also include the date of the last lit search and your plans for lit search prior to release of public comment draft? We might also note ways we can review studies that are not in current draft (with appendices or other mechanisms if needed).

I know Andrew is "sprinting".

Mike,

Any particular questions you want us to address in a briefing?
